CONTRACT MANAGEMENT 101: PLANNING AND PROCUREMENT

COOK CONFERENCE ROOM

Presented by: Sally McKechnie and Jamie Maddie

Just as a chain is only as strong as its weakest link, a contract can be only as strong and as successful as its administration. In these highly practical courses, we will address all aspects of effective contract Management — from initial award to final closeout.

You will learn proven practices for getting contracts off to a solid start, keeping them on track and handling every problem that arises.

Contract Management 101 will consist of understanding the first steps in contract management, which include Planning and Procurement.

Planning is crucial to the successful outcome of any procurement. With proper planning, you are more likely to achieve your contracting objectives. Planning assists in determining need, preparing the statement of work, choosing the appropriate procurement type, solicitation, negotiation, and drafting the contract.

CONJURING AND VANQUISHING YOUR RISK: RETENTION, AVOIDANCE, AND TRANSFER

CLEMMONS ROOM

Presented by: Colorado Robertson and Ashley McGowan

Organizations are constantly facing risks that threaten the organization's people, property, reputation, and financial operations. One area where such risks can be managed, as if by magic, is within the procurement process. The risks are sometimes readily identifiable, but oftentimes they are hidden within the contracts and agreements. This session will discuss effective risk identification and analysis techniques on how to vanquish your risk (retain, avoid, or transfer) within the procurement process

SOLE SOURCE PROCUREMENTS

LOD COOK MUSEUM

Presented by: Amy Bourgeois

What is a sole source procurement? Is my purchase exempt from standard purchasing bid procedures? The sole source procurements session will focus on the requirements, which include the information from campus departments and the information from suppliers. The session will also focus on the difference between sole source procurements and solicitations that include approved proprietary specifications.

*WORTH THE WAIT: ASSET DEPLOYMENT IN A UNIVERSITY SETTING

CLEMMONS ROOM

Presented by: Toliver Bozeman and Jason Whitfield

You've gone through the process of placing an order and you finally receive the asset. It feels like Christmas, and the first thing you want to do is send it off and get your money's worth out of it. But there are a few steps that need to be completed before this is truly ready to be sent to the dark corners of the university. To make sure these assets are tracked and protected from the dangers of the unknown, we must first make sure it is received properly, a tag is affixed to it, and that the department coordinates a place for it to reside. This session covers what to do between delivery and deployment.

THE BID GAME

LOD COOK MUSEUM

Presented by: Stephen Walczak and Nicole Covarrubias

The bid game is a workshop that lets participants experience the inner workings of the bid process from origination at the end user through an awarded bid, which is issued to the supplier. Through this simulation, participants will be able to experience the multifaceted challenges during the bid process that affect the overall processing time, soft & hard costs, and decision making.
