Course Objectives

This course is an introduction to international relations. It assumes no prior background in international relations. The purpose of this course is to introduce students to key concepts, theories, and problems in international relations. The course will focus on war and peace, international political economy, and issues over human rights and the global environment. Many of the topics in this course could be expanded into a course of its own. This course should thus prepare you for more advanced classes in international relations and help you think critically and analytically about explaining outcomes in international politics.

General Education Objectives

This course is a General Educational Course in the area of Social Science. The goal of such courses is to ensure LSU graduates will demonstrate an understanding of the informing factors of global interdependence, including economic forces, political dynamics, and cultural and linguistic difference.

Required textbook

- Jeffrey A. Frieden, David A. Lake, and Kenneth A. Schultz, World Politics: Interests, Interactions, Institutions, 3rd Edition, W. W. Norton and Company, 2015. ISBN: 978-0-393-93809-8.
- All other readings will be made available on Moodle.

Course Requirements

1. Quizzes (15%)

There will be three (3) unannounced quizzes for this course. The questions will be based on the required class readings and the class lectures. There will be no makeup quizzes, but the lowest score will be dropped from your final grade calculation.

2. Exams (20% and 30%)

There will be two exams for this course. The midterm exam accounts for 20% of the total grade and is scheduled for Friday, October, 14. The final exam is cumulative and accounts for 30% of the final grade. The final exam is scheduled for Friday, December 9, 3:00 -5:00 pm. The exams will include a combination of multiple choice and short answer questions.

3. Group Project (Presentation 10%, Paper 15%)

Students are required to develop a group project that analyzes an issue in global politics applying the analytical framework of “Interests, Interactions, and Institutions” articulated in the textbook. Each group will select a topic, present an interim report, and write an 8- 10 page (double spaced with 1 margins) final paper collectively. Both the presentation and the final paper will be given a team grade.

Each student will be assigned to a group after the add/drop period has passed, and each group will be responsible for presenting, 1) a brief summary of the background knowledge and 2) ideas about how to apply the analytical framework of the three “I”s to the group’s issue. This presentation must be done using presentation software. Your slides must be submitted to me by email no later than 5:00 p.m. the day before your group is scheduled to present.

The final paper must include; 1) a description of the issue, and 2) an analysis of the issue applying the three “I”s of framework. Keep in mind that the main goal of this project is to develop a systematic analysis of the selected topic, rather than simply describing the facts. The final paper must fully address these criteria in an academic paper format. The final paper is due on Friday, December 2.

4. Attendance and Participation (10%)

Students are expected to attend all class meetings. During class, students will be asked to respond to various questions and submit the answers at the end of class. While the answers will not be graded, the questions will 1) motivate students to participate in class and 2) allow the instructor to assess student learning. For full credit, you must answer at least 50% of the questions throughout the semester, otherwise you will receive zero for the Attendance and Participation portion of your final grade.

Grading policy

Course grades will be awarded based on the following criteria:

97-100% = A+, 93-96% = A, 90-92% = A-, 87-89% = B+, 83-86% = B, 80-82% = B-, 77-79% = C+, 73-76% = C, 70-72% = C-, 67-69% = D+, 63-66% = D, 60-62% = D-, 0-59% = F

Course, University, and Campus Policies

Office Hours:

My office is in Stubbs, 318 and my office hours will be 11:30 to 1:20 on Mondays. I will also be available other times by appointment. I encourage you to come and see me about any problems you may have during the course of the semester. The earlier you come to see me, the better.

Make-up Exams:

Make-up exams will not be granted, except for the situations of illness with proper documentation, serious personal difficulties, or excuses granted by the university administration. The most important thing is that you inform me, in advance if possible, and if not, immediately thereafter, when you will be missing an exam.

E-mail/Electronic Communication Policy:

Notifications for the class will be sent to your LSU e-mail address. If you do not check your LSU e-mail account regularly, or have it set-up to be forwarded to your preferred e-mail account, you may not get the message. Please check your LSU e-mail (or the e-mail address it forwards to) and Moodle before coming to class each day.

Syllabus Change Policy:

This syllabus is a general guide for the course, and is subject to change with advanced notice.

Copyright Statement:

Course materials are intended for use only by students registered and enrolled in this course and only for instructional activities associated with and for the duration of the course. They may not be distributed outside the course without the instructor's permission.

Plagiarism and Conduct:

According to section 10.1 of the LSU Code of Student Conduct, "A student may be charged with Academic Misconduct" for a variety of offenses, including the following: unauthorized copying, collusion, or collaboration; "falsifying" data or citations; "assisting someone in the commission or attempted commission of an offense"; and plagiarism, which is defined in section 10.1.H as a "lack of appropriate citation, or the unacknowledged inclusion of someone else's words, structure, ideas, or data; failure to identify a source, or the submission of essentially the same work for two assignments without permission of the instructor(s)."

All students are expected to read and be familiar with the LSU Code of Student Conduct and Academic Misconduct, found online at www.lsu.edu/saa. It is your responsibility as a student at LSU to know and understand the academic standards for our community. Students who are suspected of violating the Code of Conduct will be referred to the office of Student Advocacy & Accountability. For undergraduate students, a first academic violation could result in a zero grade on the assignment or failing the class and disciplinary probation until graduation. For a second academic violation, the result could be suspended from LSU.

Disability Services:

According to the our General Catalog, “The Office of Disability Services assists students in identifying and developing accommodations and services to help over-come barriers to the achievement of personal and academic goals. Services are provided for students with temporary or permanent disabilities. Accommodations and services are based on the individual student's disability-based need.” If you are seeking classroom accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act, you are required to register with Disability Services and discuss your accommodation needs with your instructor. Disability Services is located in 115 Johnston Hall. Phone is 225-578-5919: <http://students.lsu.edu/disability>.
